SECOND AMENDED COMPLAINT FOR DETERMINATION ON THE MERITS AND DAMAGES PURSUANT TO
§ 14012 OF THE FOOD, CONSERVATION
AND ENERGY ACT OF 2008

Civil Action No. 08-cv-1381 (PLF)

Pursuant to Section 14012(b) of the Food, Conservation and Energy Act of 2008 (“2008 Farm Bill” or “Act”), Plaintiffs, 21,440 African American farmers, bring this action seeking a determination on the merits of their “Pigford claims” and damages for unlawful race-based discrimination in the processing of their applications or in their attempts to apply for participation in federal farm credit or benefit programs between January 1, 1981 and December 31, 1996.

NATURE OF THE CASE

“Forty acres and a mule. The government broke that promise to African American farmers. Over one hundred years later, the USDA broke its promise to [Pigford claimants].” So declared this Court on April 14, 1999 in approving the Consent Decree in Pigford v. Glickman, Civ. A. No. 1:97-cv-1978, a class action brought by African American farmers against the United States Department of Agriculture (“USDA”) for systemic and systematic discrimination, in violation of the Fifth Amendment to the United States Constitution, the Equal Credit Opportunities Act, 15 U.S.C. § 1691, the Administrative Procedure Act, 5 U.S.C. §§ 551, et seq.; and Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, 42 U.S.C. § 2000d. Pigford v. Glickman, 185 F.R.D. 82, 112 (D.D.C. 1999), aff’d, 206 F.3d 1212 (D.C. Cir. 2000). The Court found that the USDA had “for decades” discriminated against African American farmers “when [it] denied, delayed or otherwise frustrated the applications of those farmers for farm loans and other credit and benefit programs.” Id. at 85. Further, the USDA compounded the problem in 1983 by dismantling the Department’s Office of Civil Rights Enforcement and Adjudication (“OCREA”) and failing to process, investigate, or forward to appropriate agencies for conciliation complaints of discrimination filed with OCREA. Id. This Court observed that these events “were the culmination of a string of broken promises that had been made to African American farmers for well over a century.” Id.

After more than a year of litigation, the parties negotiated a settlement and entered into a Consent Decree to resolve the Pigford litigation. The Consent Decree established a process enabling farmers who had been discriminated against as applicants for, or in their attempts to apply for, farm loans or other credit and benefit programs to obtain an adjudication of their discrimination claims through a two-track dispute resolution mechanism. Under Track A, class members with minimal, or even no, documentary evidence were entitled to receive a “virtually automatic cash payment of $50,000, and forgiveness of debt owed to the USDA.” Id. at 95. The Track B option required a higher burden of proof – preponderance of the evidence – but allowed for uncapped damages. Id.

As this Court concluded, the Pigford Consent Decree was “a significant first step” in redressing the wrongs that had been heaped upon African American farmers between 1981 and 1996. Id. at 113. As of September 29, 2008, more than 22,000 farmers had presented their claims for adjudication on the merits, and more than 15,000 farmers had received monetary compensation. See Office of the Monitor, <http://www.pigfordmonitor.org/stats>. However, tens of thousands of class members were unable to obtain relief under the Consent Decree. See Arbitrator’s Ninth Report on the Late-Claim Petition Process (“Arb. Rpt.”), Civ. A. No. 1:97-cv-1978 Docket Entry (“Dkt.”) 1214, Nov. 30, 2005 at 4.

Many farmers who had suffered discrimination and were entitled to seek relief under the Consent Decree, including the Plaintiffs in this action, were unable to obtain relief because they did not submit completed claims packages by the October 12, 1999 deadline established by the Consent Decree. The Consent Decree did afford farmers who filed after the October 12, 1999 deadline a potential right to proceed with their claims, but only if they filed on or before September 15, 2000 and could satisfy the “extraordinary circumstances” test of Section 5(g). See Stipulation and Order, July 14, 2000, Dkt. 303, at 3; Arb. Rpt. at 2-3. Of the nearly 66,000 farmers who submitted their claim forms after October 12, 1999 and petitioned pursuant to Section 5(g) of the Consent Decree to participate as “late-filers” in the claims resolution process by the September 15, 2000 deadline, just over 2,700 – i.e., only four percent – have been permitted to proceed. Plaintiffs here are among the 96% of “late filing” farmers who were denied a determination on the merits of their discrimination claims.

Congress has now determined that these “late-filing” claimants who were denied a determination on the merits of their discrimination claims under the Consent Decree may seek redress. On May 22, 2008, the 2008 Farm Bill became law. Section 14012 of the Act expressly affords to Pigford claimants who previously had submitted “late-filing” requests under the Consent Decree – but who did not obtain a determination on the merits – the right to bring a civil action in the United States District Court for the District of Columbia to obtain such a merits-based determination of their claims. The Act further mandates that the USDA, within 120 days of such a filing, provide specific information to claimants reflecting farm loan activity during the period of each claimant’s application, and further provides two tracks for relief by which claimants may establish liability. 2008 Farm Bill, §§ 14012(e), 14012(f), and 14012(g). Claimants who prevail are entitled to actual damages or certain specified liquidated damages. Id. at §§ 14012(f) and 14012(g).

Congress’s intent in enacting this remedial legislation is clear – to “giv[e] a full determination on the merits for each Pigford claim previously denied that determination.” 2008 Farm Bill, § 14012(d). Indeed, the Act specifically instructs the court to “liberally construe [§ 14012] so as to effectuate [this] remedial purpose.” Id. During floor debates, Senator Barack Obama, a leading sponsor of the legislation, reiterated that the bill was intended “to provide tens of thousands of eligible late Pigford claimants a right to go to court and have their cases heard.” 154 Cong. Rec. S4212-05. Senator Tom Harkin, another key supporter of the legislation, explained that the legislation was intended to ensure that “these claimants who have not had their cases determined on the merits may, in [a] civil action, obtain that determination.” 154 Cong. Rec. S4152-01.

Through this action, Plaintiffs, in reliance on the express language and manifest intent of Section 14012 of the Act, seek to obtain redress for the unlawful race-based discrimination they suffered in the processing of their applications or in their attempts to apply for participation in federal farm credit or benefit programs between January 1, 1981 and December 31, 1996.

JURISDICTION

1. This Court has jurisdiction over this matter pursuant to 15 U.S.C. § 1691; 28 U.S.C. §§ 1331, 1343, 1346; 42 U.S.C. § 2000d; 5 U.S.C. § 706; and Pub. L. No. 110-234, § 14012(b).

VENUE

2. Venue lies in this judicial district pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1391(e) and Pub. L. No. 110-234, § 14012(b).

THE PARTIES

3. Plaintiff YVONNE D. HAMPTON is an African American farmer residing in Butler, Alabama who farmed or attempted to farm between January 1, 1981 and December 31, 1996. In 1989, Ms. Hampton attempted to apply to the USDA’s Farm Services Agency (“FSA”) office in Linden, Alabama for a farm operating loan, but she was denied the right to even fill out an application. Ms. Hampton was subject to racial discrimination in the FSA’s response to her attempt to apply for a loan, and she suffered substantial economic injury as a result of this discrimination. Ms. Hampton complained to the United States Government about the USDA discrimination after January 1, 1981 and on or before July 1, 1997.

4. On information and belief, Ms. Hampton is a member of the Pigford class and a “Pigford claimant” as defined by Section 14012(a)(4) of the Act. Pursuant to Section 5(g) of the Consent Decree, Ms. Hampton petitioned to participate in the claims resolution process as a “late-filer” on or before September 15, 2000, and she was assigned Tracking No. 56007. The request was denied by the Arbitrator, and Ms. Hampton has never obtained a determination on the merits of her claims.

5. Plaintiff LUTHER THORNBURG is an African American farmer residing in Washington, Mississippi who farmed or attempted to farm between January 1, 1981 and December 31, 1996. In both 1986 and 1993, Mr. Thornburg attempted to apply to the USDA for farm ownership loans, but in both instances, he was denied the right to even fill out an application. Mr. Thornburg was subject to racial discrimination in the USDA’s response to his attempt to apply for a loan, and he suffered substantial economic injury as a result of this discrimination. Mr. Thornburg complained to the United States Government about the USDA discrimination after January 1, 1981 and on or before July 1, 1997.

6. On information and belief, Mr. Thornburg is a member of the Pigford class and a “Pigford claimant” as defined by Section 14012(a)(4) of the Act. Pursuant to Section 5(g) of the Consent Decree, Mr. Thornburg petitioned to participate in the claims resolution process as a “late-filer” on or before September 15, 2000, and he was assigned Tracking No. 57311. The request was denied by the Arbitrator, and Mr. Thornburg has never obtained a determination on the merits of his claims.

7. Plaintiff GENEVA NELSON is an African American farmer residing in Newbern, Alabama who farmed or attempted to farm between January 1, 1981 and December 31, 1996. In 1985, Ms. Nelson applied to the USDA for a farm operating loan, but was denied and was told that there was no funding available. Ms. Nelson was subject to racial discrimination in the USDA's response to her loan request, and she suffered substantial economic injury as a result of this discrimination. Ms. Nelson complained to the United States Government about the USDA discrimination after January 1, 1981 and on or before July 1, 1997.

8. On information and belief, Ms. Nelson is a member of the Pigford class and a "Pigford claimant" as defined by Section 14012(a)(4) of the Act. Pursuant to Section 5(g) of the Consent Decree, Ms. Nelson petitioned to participate in the claims resolution process as a "late-filer" on or before September 15, 2000, and she was assigned Tracking No. 57612. The request was denied by the Arbitrator, and Ms. Nelson has never obtained a determination on the merits of her claims.

9. On information and belief, the 21,437 additional Plaintiffs listed in Appendix A, Appendix B and Appendix C¹ to this Second Amended Complaint are all likewise part of the Pigford class who are "Pigford claimants" as defined by Section 14012(a)(4) of the Act. Specifically, on information and belief, each of these Plaintiffs is an African American farmer who:

- (a) farmed, or attempted to farm, between January 1, 1981 and December 31, 1996;
- (b) applied or attempted to apply to the USDA for participation in a federal farm credit or benefit programs between January 1, 1981 and December 31, 1996;
- (c) was treated differently than similarly-situated white farmers and was subject to racial discrimination in the USDA's response to loan applications or attempts to apply for loans or other farm benefit programs;
- (d) suffered substantial economic injury as a result of this discrimination;

(e) complained to the United States Government about USDA discrimination, within the meaning of § 1(h) of the Consent Decree, after January 1, 1981 and on or before July 1, 1997;

(f) filed a request under § 5(g) of the Consent Decree to participate as a “late filer” after October 12, 1999 and on or before September 15, 2000, which was denied by the Claims Administrator; and

(g) never obtained a determination on the merits of his or her claims.

10. Defendant Ed Schafer is Secretary of the USDA, and is the federal official responsible for the administration of the statutes, regulations, and loan programs which are at issue in this litigation.

FACTUAL BACKGROUND

11. Timothy Pigford, an African American farmer, filed a class action lawsuit in 1997 in the United States District Court for the District of Columbia alleging that the USDA had discriminated against African American farmers by denying or delaying applications for farm benefit programs and by mishandling discrimination complaints filed with the USDA. Pigford v. Glickman, Civ. A. No. 97-cv-1978. A second class action suit was filed by Cecil Brewington, alleging similar discrimination by USDA against African American farmers. Brewington v. Glickman, Civ. A. No. 98-cv-1693. These actions were consolidated by the Court, and, on January 5, 1999, the Court certified the following class:

All African American farmers who (1) farmed, or attempted to farm between January 1, 1981 and December 31, 1996; (2) applied to the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) during that time period for participation in a federal farm credit or benefit program and who believed that they were discriminated against on the basis of race in USDA’s response to that application; and (3) filed a discrimination complaint on or before July 1, 1997, regarding USDA’s treatment of such farm credit or benefit application.

Pigford, 185 F.R.D. at 92.

12. The Seventh Amended Class Action Complaint in Pigford (“Pigford Compl.”) alleged that the USDA engaged in systematic discrimination, from the county level through the federal level, against African American farmers who applied for loans or other credit services and benefit programs through the Farm Services Agency (“FSA”), and its predecessor organizations, the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (“ASCS”) and the FmHA. Pigford Compl. at ¶¶ 17-20. The FmHA was originally created to provide loans, loan servicing, and technical assistance for farmers. The FmHA and ASCS were merged in 1994 to create the FSA. Id. at ¶¶ 17-18.

13. The FSA, like the FmHA and the ASCS before it, operates through a three-tiered review system consisting of county-level offices and committees, which are reviewed and monitored by state-level offices and committees, which are in turn subject to federal level review in Washington, D.C. by the national office and the National Appeals Division. Id. at ¶ 20. Although the credit and benefit programs are federally-funded programs, the decisions to approve or deny applications for credit or benefits are made locally at the county level, by locally elected county committees and local loan officers appointed by those committees. Pigford, 185 F.R.D. at 86. The county committees, elected by local ranchers and farmers, did not reflect the racial diversity of the communities they serve – indeed, nationwide, the African American representation among county commissioners in 1999 was less than 0.5%. Id. at 87.

14. Despite the existence, at least nominally, of state and federal-level review, the local committees were rife with discrimination. As this Court noted, “African American farmers complain[ed] that county commissioners ha[d] discriminated against them for decades, denying their applications, delaying the processing of their applications or approving them for insufficient amounts” Pigford, 185 F.R.D. at 87. The Court further found that the delays were so extreme in some locations that “it took three times as long on average to process the application of an African American farmer as it did to process the application of a white farmer.” Id. (citing the USDA’s Civil Rights Action Team (“CRAT”) Report). In approving the Consent Decree, this Court concluded that the USDA “and the county commissioners discriminated against African American farmers when they denied, delayed or otherwise frustrated the applications of those farmers for farm loans and other credit and benefit programs.” Id. at 85.

15. The discrimination problems were exacerbated by lack of institutional oversight. In 1983, the USDA “disbanded its Office of Civil Rights and stopped responding to claims of discrimination.” Id. There was supposed to be a detailed process for investigating discrimination claims, but “[a]ll the evidence developed by the USDA and presented to the Court indicates . . . that this system was functionally nonexistent for well over a decade.” Id. at 88.

16. When African American farmers complained to the USDA, their complaints were mismanaged, ignored or lost. In fact, “[i]n some cases, [Office of Civil Rights Enforcement and Adjudication] staff simply threw discrimination complaints in the trash without ever responding to or investigating them.” Id.

17. In December 1996, in response to frequent complaints that its farm credit programs were operating in a discriminatory manner, the USDA convened a Civil Rights Action Team to conduct a comprehensive study of its farm loan programs. After an exhaustive study, the USDA issued the “CRAT Report,” which concluded that “[m]inority farmers have lost significant amounts of land and potential farm income as a result of discrimination” by USDA entities such as the FSA. Id. (quoting the CRAT Report). The CRAT Report also found that the “process for resolving complaints ha[d] failed” and that “immediate action was needed to clear the backlog of complaints.” Id.

18. The USDA's acknowledgement that discrimination was rampant and complaints had never been processed came too late for many of the African American farmers because of the two-year statute of limitations on their claims. See id. To enable them to pursue their claims, Congress passed legislation in 1998 that tolled the statute of limitations for farmers who filed discrimination complaints with the USDA before July 1, 1997. Id. at 88-89.

19. The Pigford and Brewington suits followed, and the Consent Decree entered into on April 14, 1999 provided some measure of relief for many African American farmers. As noted above, however, Congress recognized that additional relief was necessitated by the fact that approximately 63,000 plaintiffs who had timely requested to be considered as "late" filers were denied the ability to have their claims determined on the merits. Thus, Congress enacted Section 14012 in the 2008 Farm Bill to give redress to the tens of thousands of class members who were not able to obtain a determination of their individual claims under the 1999 Consent Decree. Pursuant to Section 14012(b) of the 2008 Farm Bill, Plaintiffs have filed this action.
